

LIBOR Act Implementation for SCE Preference Stock & Trust Preference Securities

Based on Edison International's interpretation of the Adjustable Interest Rate (LIBOR) Act (the "LIBOR Act") and the Federal Reserve Board's implementing regulations, the securities that either have already converted or will convert to a LIBOR-based floating rate will instead be based on a new term Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR)-based rate as laid out in the table below:

Series Name	Conversion Date to Floating Rate	First Dividend Payment Date under LIBOR Act	New SOFR-based Dividend Rate Components under LIBOR Act <sup>1</sup>
Series E Preference Stock	2/1/2022	11/1/2023	3-month Term SOFR + 0.26161% + 4.199%
Series H Preference Stock / 5.75% Fixed-to-Floating Rate Trust Preference Securities	3/15/2024	6/15/2024	3-month Term SOFR + 0.26161% + 2.99%
Series J Preference Stock / 5.375% Fixed-to-Floating Rate Trust Preference Securities	9/15/2025	12/15/2025	3-month Term SOFR + 0.26161% + 3.132%
Series K Preference Securities / 5.45% Fixed-to-Floating Rate Trust Preference Securities	3/15/2026	6/15/2026	3-month Term SOFR + 0.26161% + 3.79%

<sup>1</sup> The SOFR-based Dividend Rate will be made up of the three-month CME Term SOFR plus a Tenor Spread Adjustment for three-month USD LIBOR, which is equal to 0.26161%, plus the series-specific spread as set out in the prospectus.

Disclaimer: This page is for informational purposes only, you should not construe any such information or other material as legal, tax, investment, financial, or other advice. Investors should contact their broker or investment advisor for information about acquiring preferred stock securities.